DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This bevel frame house is two stories high and five bays long. It is situated quite close to Aldino Road and faces northwest. Some area residents believe this house to be of log.

Window sashes through out most of the house are six lights over six with pegged trim. Louvered shutters flank each window. The gable flank roof is slate covered and has a box cornice. A center gable - perhaps a cosmetic addition - is trimmed with wooden shingles and a rising sun pattern. Also at the center is a corbeled brick chimney, approximately five feet wide. The window door arrangement of the principal (northwest) facade is W-D-W-W-D with the main entrance being the western most door. This entrance has a four light transom overhead. The other door has none. The actual doors are moulded panel with a rounded arch. A one story porch covers all but the north bay of this house on the northwest facade. Porch posts are turned wood. A one bay entrance porch is at the center of the longer porch. This has a gable front roof and it is pedimented. There is moulded trim.

The interior of the house is laid out in a side through hall floor plan with the hall located in the southern end. The wooden floors are replaced. Two rooms are located off this hall - one room leading into the other. The rooms have back-to-back fireplaces sharing a central chimney. The room closest to the hallway has a more formal fireplace, the elaborately moulded mantle was not original. The fireplace in the next room-originally the kitchen-has no mantle. It does have a wooden shelf as well as a large iron crane in the fireplace. Next to the fireplace is a two tier closet with moulded panel, double hung doors.

Upstairs, floors are older though probably still replaced. Rooms are small and there is a long narrow hallway leading to the attic entrance. In the attic the center chimney is clearly visible. Log beams can be seen as well.

There is a shallow cellar with an outside entrance.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

It is difficult to figure out this house which is thought by Aldino area residents to be of considerable age and of log construction.

The center chimney could be an indication of the house's age or it could mean that the southwest through hall was an addition to a rather simple home.

The history of the tract on which this house stands is not well documented either. Wood's Meadow had been a Mahan family property for many years and was sold to Margaret Mahan by Christian Hoffman (sic) in 1829.

Hoopman was a brick moulder known in the Aldino area for his part in the establishment of the Wesleyan Chapel.
